THE PRINGLE BAY ART AND CRAFT ROUTE

by Liz McKenzie

What do a mechanical engineer, a teacher, an estate agent, a surfer and a pizza maker have in common? Firstly they all live under the precipitous cliffs of the great "Hangklip" that dominates Pringle Bay with its sweeping white beach and rocky coves in the Western Cape. Secondly they are all fulfilling their dreams and following the route to art in their lives.

I began at Studio Zu where I was met by Daan van Graan looking every inch a mechanical engineer until he donned his overall, picked up a brush and was transformed into the artist he had always dreamed he could be.

"Engineering was a thankless job with little reward, but the reward I get from art is not only the outcome; it is the input that makes me feel the passion."

This proved to be a day of startling colours, of vast canvasses of mountain and sea and of delicate and detailed studies. Masters and novices alike experienced that passion and reward as they created blazing sunsets or intimate portraits of ordinary people.

Ina Le Roux along with Hannetjie Doorduyn, established the Pringle Bay Arts and Craft Route in 2010. Ina worked at her easel, her caftan reflecting the colours she loves- lilacs, blues and greens. "I have no special theme. But this is typically me." How satisfying it is to be simply yourself! Hannetjie in turn creates irresistible individually designed jewellery pieces from freshwater pearls, coral, semi-precious stones, shells and natural products.

Kersten Jeschke is petite and elfin. Her canvasses on the other hand are bold and startling. "Colours impress me deeply. Nature gives me inspiration with its ever changing moods," she told me as we looked out from her studio on the point surrounded by the bay and framed by the Kogelberg.

Stuart McHattie, I had presumed, was the local surfing "dude" with his collection of boards, sun bleached hair and carefree spirit. But on the flip side Stuart is a serious artist whose art form is the photography of fynbos in which he creates works that are as precise and detailed as that of a master of fine botanical art.

I stepped out of the tugging South East wind, into the cool interior of the Pringle Bay United Church to view wall hangings created by some talented women of the congregation. Here the essence of the bay is represented by means of fabrics, wool, leather, net, beads, string and feathers. As I considered these intricate works, the words of the hymn, "All things bright and beautiful," rang in my head for quite some time.

Within the Brun-Mer Studio lies the nucleus of the art route. Artist Bruni van der Merwe offers art classes to some of the creative spirits of the bay. "I give people the opportunity to do what they always wanted to do; they come here to discover themselves." Trudi Lotter is an active estate agent in the area and while she still considers herself to be a novice she is one of those who has discovered herself through her artistic talent.

THE PRINGLE BAY ART AND CRAFT ROUTE CONTINUED

She loves to create and is inspired by the beauty around her as does AnneMarie Breteytenbach, a talented sculpture, silversmith and ceramicist.

Amanda Olivier, once the owner of an art supplies shop, now uses those supplies to paint for her own pleasure thanks to the encouragement and guidance from the art group. I loved her gentle blue seascape with sweeping gull and felt the tug of life in the country under the Hangklip beside the bay.

In contrast, in retired teacher Marietjie Holloway's studio, I was struck by the startling yellow arum lilies that burst out of a canvas. "I love indulging in colour," she told me hurriedly closing the door as the local troop of baboons sauntered by.

Maryna Gouws is so potty about old plates and pots that she breaks them only to recreate them in all shapes and sizes. They become "a chip off the old pot", where they are snapped up by visitors to the Saturday Village Market.

In a small basement studio the ex-pizza man, Takura Chadoka, is as vibrant as his paintings, created with vivid colours and strong strokes depicting country and township life. "I am inspired by the Masters," he said and, yes, there I see that Van Gogh, Gauguin, and even Pierneef have played a part in shaping Takura's talent sufficiently to place him firmly on the map of the Pringle Bay Art and Craft Route.

KUNSUITSTALLING IN PRINGLEBAAI DUUR VOORT

Die kunsuitstalling wat reeds sedert Desember verlede jaar aan die gang is, is so gewild dat die besigtigings-tydperk verleng is tot einde April.

Die kunsuitstalling, wat gedurende die pas afgelope vakansie seisoen in Pringlebaai gehou is, was uiters suksesvol! Die openingsaand op 14 Desember 2012 is bygewoon deur meer as honderd kuns liefhebbers en gemiddeld 70 besoekers van oor die hele land en ook die buiteland, het per dag die uitstallingbesigtig.

Die kunsuitsalling wat gehou word in die ou Kaaps Hollandse gebou in die midde dorp, is georganiseerder die lede van die Pringlebaai Kuns- en Handwerkkroete.

Die inspirasie vir die Kunsroete, wat reeds meer as twee jaar bestaan, kom van Ina Le Roux en Hannatjie Doorduyn. Kunstenaars stel hulle deure oop vir die publiek op sekere naweke deur die jaar, maar dit het geblyk dat kunstenaars baie meer blootstelling kry met 'n groeps-tentoonstelling. Die ligging en atmosfeer van die pragtige ou gewelgebou waar die uitstalling gehou word, leen hom uitstekend daartoe om kuns te kan besigtig. Veertien plaaslike kunstenaars, almal lede van die Pringlebaai Kuns- en Handwerkkroete, neem deel aan die uitstalling.

'n Wye verskeidenheid van kuns vul die ruimte: keramiek, juwele, kralewerk en verskillende genres van die skilderkuns word verteenwoordig. Kunsverkoop is glad nie sleg nie, en kunstenaars ontvang selfs opdrag-werk. Die voormalige voorsitter van die Kunsroete, Hannatjie Doorduyn, meen dit is "n pragtige venster van die kuns in Pringlebaai".

Die uitstalling is tans oop vir besigtiging vanaf Woensdae tot Sondag van 10:00 tot 15:00 maar sal vanaf 16 Maart tot 6 April elke dag van die week oop wees met verlengde ure aldus 10:00 tot 18:00.

Dit is beslis die moeite werd om 'n draai te gooi in Pringlebaai!

GRAHAM UTTON'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE PBRA

At the end of 2012 Graham Utton stood down as chair and treasurer of the Pringle Bay Ratepayers' Association after four years' service to the committee, the last two of which he held these two crucial portfolios. Graham has made an enormous contribution to the Pringle Bay community and he has devoted much of his time to it.

He attended to the day-to-day business of the PBRA and represented the Association at Ward Committee meetings, the Federation of Ratepayers, the Community Police Forum, the Community Hall committee and many other meetings. He was instrumental in the success of the security camera project.

We owe Graham a huge debt of gratitude and thank him for his willingness to remain involved with the security cameras and the PBRA website, even though he is now no longer a member of the committee.

FYNBOS ENTERPRISES FINDS A NEW HOME

Fynbos Enterprises has found a new home in Pringle Bay. They have now settled in on Park Road – attached to the Pringle Bay Mini Mart which some of you might remember as the old Roxy's Pizza place back in the heyday!

Before entering you will be struck by the most beautiful steel gate designed and made by Caroline Mcdowell in memory of her best friend's daughter – it is most striking!

Not only do they have new premises but they also boast a selection of new products and the most delicious askoek. You are welcome to enjoy the askoek, – either on its own or with the filling of the day, with good company and coffee, or as a takeaway. The oven gets fired up every Saturday and Sunday as well as most days in the holidays. Best to call in earlier than later as it sells like hotcakes.

Another new addition which has been a total hit is the ice cream! A variety of lovely flavours and sorbet are on offer either in a container or a sugar cone.

The good old favourites are also still available – liqueurs – honey, coffee, citrus and aniseed; spirits – pink gin and vodka; candles; moisturizing candles and soaps.

Also on display are art pieces by the local artists of Pringle Bay. The one wall features art created by Caroline Mcdowell who has started a recycling program and makes art from plastic picked up on Pringle Bay beach. These art pieces are beautifully put together and admired by all visiting.

Sunra has also teamed up with Willem to create their little 'garden of eden'. Soon they will have lettuce, indigenous plants, herbs and healing plants available to sell.

You have to do yourself a favour and pop in, even if it is only for a chat and a cuppa moerkoffie or tea.

If you still aren't sure where they are situated then all you need to do is look out for the windmill and fynbos artwork on our outside wall – all done with the help of our very own local artists.

Sunra looks forward to hosting you at her new shop and talking you through all the new additions over a good ole cuppa! Fynbos greetings from all.

"Great atmosphere and food"

Reviewed February 11, 2013

The standard of food around the Overberg area is of a high standard generally, but we were really impressed with not only the quality of meals, but more importantly service and atmosphere of this place.

Cool vintage deco, great staff - it became our go-to-place while we were in the area, and they always tried to accommodate us even when they were full [ which was most nights ].....

btw,order the pizza's, they sublime :)

"Home style ambience and exquisite food!"

Reviewed February 13, 2013

This restaurant offers residence and holiday makers a relaxed, home style ambience with high quality feel-good food. Everything tastes fresh and richly delicious, you can feel that love has been put onto your plate. The atmosphere is unlike any other restaurant I've been to, because of it's intimate, small space you feel like you are at a rustic, yet exquisitely catered for dinner party and the attentive hosts make you feel special and at ease, nothing is too much hassle. The menu has a variety of pastas, pizzas, a few fish dishes and a Italian-stallion burger. There is just enough to choose from but not too much that it overwhelms you. The pizza's are the best I have ever had and that's saying a lot coming from a big pizza fan. The decor is eccentric and tasteful and there are even prints from local artists and photographers for purchase. To top off an already delightful evening, the deserts are to die for and the coffee fresh and of a very high quality. I would highly recommend HRK restaurant to any local or holiday maker in the area, otherwise it is worth the drive from Cape Town or surrounds for a weekend lunch! Delicious food, great atmosphere and delightful hosts, what more could you want from an eat-out! Simply sublime!

LOCAL IS LEKKER AND ALSO A LOT BETTER

Last year the metal shaft the radiator fan rides on sheared, causing damage to the radiator of my 105 year old Adler antique car. My local 'guru', Dennis Swanevelver, came to my rescue by introducing me to Coenie, a brilliant mechanic and an expert on radiators. But we also needed an engineer to hand tool a new steel shaft - enter Colin, an engineer supreme. Dennis's plan came together and the Adler was on the road again.

Now read about my three local wise men, all backyard professionals.

1. DENNIS

SWANEVELVER: From massive trucks, to model trains.

Dennis started his mechanical apprenticeship in Johannesburg in 1962, soon graduating from cars to trucks. Working for the railways, at their Kazerne Depot, he gained valuable experience in large petrol and diesel vehicles, platform tractors, forklifts and trailers. Later, when working first for the Post Office and then the Sandton Town Council, his focus tuned to their massive trucks and the overhauling of their large engines.

Born in Florida, near Johannesburg, he has the unique distinction of living there from the time he was born until he retired. But it was Betty's Bay where he and his charming wife, Santie, chose to retire to in 1998. His love of model trains started in 1975 and today at his delightful home in Betty's, he has created a beautiful 5 x 2 meter landscape for the trains to journey on. Made up of Hornbys, Fleishmans, Lemars and Picos, he has come a long way from when he used to buy second-hand sets, to his present day collection of over thirty locomotives and one hundred and twenty nine coaches.

The one thing I admire about this quiet humble man and that's his passion for resolving problems.

No challenge, big or small, is too much for him. While a 'boer' might make a plan, Dennis already has a plan.

2. COENIE VAN DER WESTHUISEN: From stock-car champion, to unique car creator.

Born into a motor family he cut his teeth on mechanical things. Brought up in Piketberg, it wasn't long before he became a mechanic and panel beater. He drove his first car when he was in standard five, a 1956 Ford, and he remembers well because he was born in 1956. When he was eighteen his father bought him a brand new 1974 Dodge, which he still proudly drives today, thirty-nine years later.

Coenie Van Der Westhuisen

In 1971, aged fifteen, he started racing stock-cars, and after winning many championships he retired from racing in 1993. He came to the Strand thirteen years ago to pursue his ambition of creating and building unique one-off cars, which is his hobby today. His passion is anything on wheels, and thank goodness the Adler had wheels, because he agreed to help me out and repair the 105 year old brass radiator, quite a tricky undertaking.

In his backyard you will find the most extraordinary collection of unusual cars: from a 1939 Austin, fitted with a 2-litre Ford engine, to a Mini mounted onto a 4x4 Suzuki Jeep. He is the proud owner of an original 1958 Ford Ranchero, one of the only 1040 ever made. Coenie also has a left hand drive Mini Cooper from Italy, and he is presently restoring a 1927 Chevy truck that he found in Paarl (see picture).

To get away from it all he has a holiday home in Betty's Bay.

ADLER DIARIES CONTINUED: LOCAL IS LEKKER AND ALSO A LOT BETTER

3. COLIN HARTON: From engineering steel moulds, to moulding his dreams.

Colin Harton

As a young man, Colin became a toolmaker, which gave him the basis for starting his own engineering company, specialising in the making of steel moulds for the plastic injection moulding industry. At thirty nine he sold his business to Everite, affording him the opportunity to do what he loved most... sailing.

Fortunately for me, in his wonderful and eclectic Robinson-Crusoe-like home, as a hobby, he retained his state of the art steel milling press, lathes and grinding machine. So for an expert like Colin creating a new, perfectly accurate steel shaft was a piece of cake. His price was a crate of Carling Black Label Draught.

These days he sails his 31-foot Miura Class yacht on weekends at the Royal Yacht Club.

Colin will continue fulfilling his dream, when together with his daughter, grandson and friend, they compete in the Cape to Rio Race in January 2014. Truly the sea is in the blood of the Harton family.

CONCLUSION

You can go anywhere in this world and you will be hard pressed to find three more competent professionals... and yet they are right here in our own back yard. For them their work is their hobby, and their 'gees' and enthusiasm for what they do reflects in the quality of their work. The common denominator in their success is that all three are living their dreams in the Overberg - a place where dreams come true.

PRINGLE PAST: CHAPTER FOUR - THE PRINGLE BOYS' WEEKENDS

The Pringle Bay Boys' Weekends began in the late Seventies, when our fledgling advertising agency was just starting to fly. It all began with an invitation to my colleagues at the office to join me in my two-bedroomed cottage at Pringle Bay for the start of the annual kreefing season. So many accepted that it was chauvinistically decided to limit the invitees to males. (More about this later.)

To commemorate the event, our studio designed T-shirts reading "I Caught Crabs at Pringle Bay", which became collectors' items in later years. Mine disappeared a long time ago.

As the accompanying picture shows, the first weekend was quite a success, crayfishwise. We used ring nets and scoop nets in the rock pools at low tide, and a couple of the boys had wetsuits and dived. I'd point out likely places for them to explore. I said to Dion: "There's a really big kreef under this rock that I've been trying to catch for some time. Have a look." Dion dived and a few seconds later came up holding a monster. "That's him," I said.

Between kreefing we entertained ourselves in a number of ways. We erected a karam table on the parking place at the end of Point Road, and this Cape Malay game of "billiards with checkers" proved highly popular. To strangers, the table and players must have resembled a surrealistic scene out of Federico Fellini's 1974 semi-autobiographical film Amarcord.

Catapults were (and still are) basic equipment for the Boys' Weekends. We collected bags of pebbles from what the late Ben Jordaan used to call "Secret Beach" and blasted away at beer cans from the stoep. Between shots one day a koggelmander lizard climbed on to one of the cans and was happily sunning himself before an accidental shot removed the can from under him and catapulted (pun intended) him into the air. He landed adroitly on all fours, shaken but unhurt.

More entertainment in those pre-electric days was provided by a battery-operated record player on which we listened to a series of Monty Python LPs, including the weirdly-named "Monty Python's Previous Record". A car battery powered a black-and-white TV set, which in later Boys' Weekends screened two great fights by Sugar Ray Leonard and Roberto "Hands of Stone" Duran, one of which was the notorious "No mas" affair.

An evening at the Hangklip Hotel became a longlasting tradition. There was a chi-chi restaurant named "The Intermate (sic) Fish", festooned with fishing nets, floats and dried marine creatures, which we avoided, preferring to drink in the bar and chat to the locals. (Our T-shirts needed a lot of explanation.) One of our number had a trick whereby he catapulted (that word again) a cigarette from the packet into his mouth. "Look," he said to the hotel manager, who'd called "Time gentlemen, please" some minutes earlier. "See? I'm a magician."

Patently, the manager replied, "Good. So please can you make your friends disappear?"

Two of our friends had already left the hotel about an hour earlier, planning to walk back to Point Road. We piled into the VW Microbus kindly lent us by Motors Western Province and set off down the road. Less than half a kilometre along, we came across our friends, staggering slightly. "We kept falling in the fynbos," they explained, and spent the night in their sleeping bags on my cement stoep, sleeping the sleep of the dead until midday.

The rest of us disposed ourselves in the two bedrooms and the main room, the lucky ones on beds. One unlucky individual inadvertently chose his sleeping place next to my smelly running shoes, and spent the night with the only female in our party curled up on his chest, purring loudly. This was my cat, Rooi, whom

I'd picked up as a kitten late one night abandoned on the road with her sister Els, not far from Rooi Els. (But that's another story.)

Our small paraffin-operated fridge was crammed with beers, bottles of wine and other necessities of life, so there was no room for the huge bowl of potato salad that the wife of one of the boys lovingly prepared every year. This meant it had to be devoured immediately, before it went off. Each time we explained what was lacking in this salad which was actually superb but which, in our stated opinion, only "bordered on greatness", and hence didn't quite merit "the freedom of the fridge". One year we felt the bacon wasn't quite crumbly enough and the eggs not from free range hens, next time the chives were lacking in piquancy and the third year the mayonnaise appeared to be shop-bought rather than homemade. Finally, we took pity on this ultrapatient "good wife" and bought an extra fridge for R200 which ran off a gas cylinder or a car battery. With due ceremony we installed the now-perfect potato salad in its own fridge in solitary glory, and enjoyed it every day instead of wolfing it the first night. (It featured again in a recent Boys' Weekend a couple of years ago and was better than ever, and I still have the R200 fridge, now

Above: the latest Boys' Weekend in November 2012

- The catapult tradition lives on!

running on mains electricity.)

The next year our T-shirts proclaimed us to be "The Pringle Boys' Choir", with a motto on the back "ALL TOGETHER NOW" but cunningly spaced to read "ALL TO GET HER NOW". (Creativity in the studio was at a rather low ebb at this time.) Our music was provided by an issue of kazoos which made the same sound as the old comb and tissue paper combination. We entertained (if that is the word) the locals at the Hangklip Hotel bar on Saturday night, and one inebriated individual even expressed a wish to join our choir.

On Monday, when we got back to the ad agency, we discovered that our female counterparts had been far more creative than ourselves, as they were all wearing T-shirts reading "GIRLCOTT PRINGLE". We took this broad hint to heart and extended an invitation to the girls to join us next year, but only a few of them did, and eventually the Boys' Weekends dwindled back into all-male affairs.

In later years, the Boys' Weekend was resurrected and became a regular event again, with the latest being held in November last year. We didn't catch any crayfish as the waves were huge and dangerous, but the catapults and beer cans got a lot of action, and instead of visiting the Hangklip Hotel we had great pizzas at Perigators. (Thanks, Ali – hope I've spelled your name correctly.) More Boys' Weekends are being planned as I write. Watch this space.

SPORE IN ONS OMGEWING

Wees GEGROET alle lede van alle stamme wat die onnodige uitwissing van ons wonderlike Skepping verafsku en al die res van julle!

BOESMAN het nou die dag die adrenaliën van 'n jagtog ervaar toe twee grysmuishonde (cape grey mongoose) jag maak op 'n lekker vet vleiroet reg voor sy kaia se deur! Voëls het skielik ander geluide begin maak: 'n waarskuwende "TRRR" is luid geopper. Boesman weet nie of die muishonde se jagtog suksesvol was nie, maar dit het hom wel laat dink.

Weet julle dat muishonde die beste bestryders van "plae" is soos knaagdiere en slange. Dalk woon daar miskien 'n paar muishonde in jou tuin en soos in Boesman se geval ook in sy kaia se dak en hulle roei muise en rotte uit wat die prima prooi is van jou slang...

dan het jou slang nie lekkernye wat hom na jou kaia toe lok nie en muishonde vang sommer slange ook. Voëls, eiers, insekte, spinnekoppe en aas is ook op hulle spyskaart.

Groter prooi soos baba hasies, tarentale en fisante kan ook aangeval word en selfs ook baba grysbokkies het al tot prooi status gedaal.

Muishonde is dag- en nagdiere. Hulle is swak grawers en hou nie baie van boomklim nie maar is nogtans bedrewe daarmee. Een tot drie kleintjies word gebore van Augustus tot Desember en word deur die ouers onderhou tot 'n volwasse muishond.

Nog 'n "plaag" bevegter is die kleinkolmuskeljaatkot (small spotted genet).

As jy nou regtig onslae wil raak van alle knaagdiere en

Links en bo:
Kleinkolmuskeljaatkot (small spotted genet).

slange is DIE bloeddorstige, tieragtige, formidabele moordenaar van alle soorte kleiner soogdiere, jou maatjie. Die muskeljaatkot word uitgeken aan die pragtige swart en wit ringe om 'n wollerige stert.

Hulle vang hase, alle soorte voëls, reptiele, insekte en laaste maar nie die minste nie hou hulle ook van vrugte. Hierdie diere is vreesloos en stap sommer snags in jou kaia in. Boesman se vriend, wat op Fynbosplaas woon, sweer dat as daar vleis en avokadopeer langs mekaar le verkies Ta eerder avo.

Nou gaan Boesman vir julle die mees ongelooflikste storie vertel oor hierdie klein katjie: Slegs die wyfies merk hulle area met uriene asook 'n uitskeiding van anale kliere. Hierdie geure word deur homo sapiens vroue gebruik om hulle "area" te merk en mans aan te trek want die geur muskejaat (musk) word gebruik om parfuum te vervaardig. Onthou net... as jy nie geld het vir duur parfuum nie...die diertjies word vreeslik mak! Een het by Koppie Alleen by ons vorige Natuurbehearings-beampte in sy bed geslaap! Dit is sy storie. Normaalweg is daar drie katjies in 'n werpsel wat gebore word tussen September tot Oktober.

Muskeljaatkotte se natuurlike vyand is uile en luiperds. Meeste word egter uitgeroei deur Dunlop, Firestone en ander rubberagtige spesies. Soos hulle sê speed kills!

Tot ons spore weer kruis...
Wees gegroet.
BOESMAN

is vir sommige die doel agter die middele ...

maar vir ander is die "vang" proses van kreef die eintlike issue hier in die Weskaap-fynbos- kusdorp van ons.

In 'n vorige uitgawe van die Pringle Post (Augustus 2012) het "BOESMAN" geskryf oor die uitgerekte, moeilike voorplanting en oorlewings proses van die "Cape Rock Lobster": hier alom bekend as creepy crawleys.

Wat "Boesman" nie oortel het nie was HOE daai krefie in ons nette beland voordat ons hom lewend in kookwater gooi of eers laat rus of sommer so op die vuur oopvlek en dan heerlik smul aan die gesogte crustacea wat ons as vanselfsprekend aanvaar...

Dis 'n Sondag aand

...so om en by agt dat ons vir die eerste keer die Hangklip betrag. Lang wit wolke vingers kruip oor die Klip... Februarie-weer noem ons dit! So word ons verwelkom in ons nuwe tuiste vir die afgelope 17 jaar!

Min het ons (Valies gebore en getoeë) gewet wat ons sou leer eet maar newermaand leer "vang"! By the way ...mens TREK kreef en VANG vis!

Ons was bevoorreg om ons eerste kreeftrek-ekspidiese met die legendariese filmmaker, Dirk de Villiers, mee te maak. Nie alle nuwelinge in ons geweste was so gelukkig om eerste handse kennis van 'n gesoute seeman te kry nie. Digte mis het ons by Twin Peaks oorval en ons kon nie verder as vyf na tien meter voor ons sien nie. Dirk het net sy kop laat sak en laat waai en ons het wonder bo wonder presies in die slip beland.. natuurlik met 'n gejuig aan ons kant. Veel later het ons eers gehoor dat Dirk 'n kompas in sy horlosieband gedra het!

Ons leer kreeftrek, skaf ons eie rubberduck aan (wat die see welliswaar later opgeeis het in 'n hewige storm) en leer ken die gereelde kreeftrekkers. Die "Geelbaadjies" gaan come hell or high water see toe en ons leer by hulle van kreef ceviche. Rou kreefstertjies word gemarineer in lemmetjiesap en Steers Greek Salad dressing.. 'n Ongelooflike delicatessen! Ons leer by Alba (eertydse MIEMS kelnerin) en Rene Rijke (ons plaaslike gas - en loodgieterman) die seremonie van kreefpootjies oopbreek, in suurllemoenpeper en mayonaisse doop en smul. En op aandrang van ons vriend Syd Chaplin (direkte afstammeling van Charlie) maak ons crayfish thermidor. En wat van in avokadoseisoen.. 'n Avo ritz ala kreef.

Nie alle kreeftrek-ekspidiesies verloop vol vreugde nie: en dis hoe ons die see REGTIG leer ken...

In daardie jare kondig Morris presies om 19:00 MIEMS se aandskof aan.. tot sommige inwoners se ergernis en ander se genot. Ons bly vir twee lange jare in die loft van die ou MIEMS en so staan Morris elke aand op die trap en blaas uit volle bors "The Last Post".

So ontmoet ons toe ook ander vissermanne... en op 'n Saterdagand groet ons Keith en Thommy met "The Last Post".

Dis 'n Sondag oggend

...en min het ons geweet dat ons twee nuut gevonde visserman-vriende op die Sondag oggend nooit weer sou sien nie. Hulle het kom vra:

"Ag please Morri... play 'The Last Post' for us one last time", en Morris het nie...

En toe kom die tyding: Keith & Thommy se bootjie het onklaar geraak... die wind het opgekom, die swell het opgetel en die getuienis van die tragiese gebeurtenis staan daar by Pringlebaai slip. Stap met die boardwalk af daar na die launch plek toe en vind 'n bankie waar mens kan sit en uitstaar oor die baai... in Memoriam van Keith wie se liggaam nooit gevind is nie...

Op kreeftrek dae en veral buite seisoen is daar baie kreefstories te vertel. Miskien moet ons ons wedervarings, goed of sleg, snaaks of gevaarlik, wettig of onwettig begin neerskryf. As kreeftrek dieselfde paadjie as perlemoen gaan volg, het nie ons nie baie tyd oor om dit met ons geliefdes te deel nie!

SNAKE ID AND INFORMATION

Snakes have traditionally been looked upon as slimy, repulsive and aggressive creatures that attack people at every opportunity. If cornered or hurt, a snake may well defend itself but, even then, most snakes prefer to move off quickly and quietly if given the chance. Other snakes will remain motionless, hoping that their excellent camouflage will enable them to remain undetected.

The snake is without a doubt one of nature's most skilful predators. For instance, a rodent, once it disappears down its network of burrows, is safe from most predators – except from snakes. With its long elongate, limbless body a snake can easily move through the burrows and not only kill an individual rodent, but in many cases eradicate an entire rodent family in one session.

What to do when you come across a snake:

- Always leave snakes alone.
- Stand still. No snake will come and attack you. If you are a fair distance from the snake, approximately four meters or more, retreat slowly. Snakes never chase people.
- Do not tamper with dead snakes, as some of them feign death. The body may be turned sideways or upside down with the tongue hanging out.
- If the snake is in your house or garden please call your nearest Nature Reserve (See Useful contacts) with the following information handy: contact number, description of snake and if you have a visual of the snake. This will, in most cases, ensure that the person coming to collect the specimen can do so as quickly and safely as possible. Snakes move quickly and can disappear in seconds and for this reason NO snake handler will respond to a call if a visual of the snake is not kept.

Excerpts of the guide compiled by Jaco Uys of the Environmental Resource Management Department, City of Cape Town

How to minimize the chance of snakebite:

- If you are in the veld, wear stout shoes or boots and long trousers, preferably denims. Most victims are
- bitten on the lower leg or ankle, often when accidentally standing on a snake.
- Do not walk barefoot at night when in the veld or camping. Most snakebites occur just before, or within two hours of total darkness.

This is when nocturnal snakes and people are very active.

- Keep your eyes open and watch where you are going. When mountain climbing, do not put your hands in places that are out of sight. When collecting firewood, don't reach into holes, burrows or hollow logs.
- Do not step over logs and large rocks, as a snake may be sunning itself on the opposite side. Rather step on to them.
- Do not allow the accumulation of rubble, building material, thick vegetation or other materials around your home – these could serve for refuge for snakes and their prey.

Boomslang Dispholidus typus

VERY DANGEROUS

- Length: Average 1,5m, max 2m
- Food: Actively hunts chameleons and other tree-living lizards, birds, nestling, eggs and frogs.
- Venom: Haemotoxic
- Mating Season: Early Spring

Look out for:

- Strongly keeled dorsal scales.
- Have enormous eyes and a short stubby head.
- May inflate the neck and most of the body under severe provocation.
- Spends most of its life in trees and shrubs.
- Active during the day.

SECURITY PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES

Most people have a large part of their wealth invested in homes, businesses and vehicles. They spend a great deal of money on maintaining and preserving such investments and realize a great deal of personal satisfaction in the security and comfort obtained from them. At the same time they exhibit carelessness in securing these belongings against attacks by thieves and burglars. Such neglect provides criminals with an open invitation to commit thefts. Precautions that can be taken to eliminate such temptations are basic and if universally applied could materially reduce losses by theft and burglary.

Due to a significant increase in incidents of crime this year it is considered essential that homeowners take appropriate steps to protect themselves against any criminal activity. To achieve this we need to:

- ✓ Keep a list of emergency numbers prominently displayed at or near the telephone;
  - ✓ Never open a door to an unexpected visitor;
  - ✓ Avoid walking alone, particularly in isolated places;
  - ✓ Arrange with reliable neighbours for reciprocal surveillance when away from home for any length of time;
  - ✓ Leave lights on when away somewhere at night. As our areas do not have street lights we need to take special precautions as criminal elements are easily able to remain concealed;
  - ✓ Ensure that residences are easily approachable and free from concealed means such as shrubbery and trees;
  - ✓ A watch dog is a good early warning system especially if kept close to the owner or inside the house;
  - ✓ Be familiar with your environment. Be constantly on the look-out for suspicious looking characters or vehicles and do not hesitate to report them to the SAPS;
  - ✓ Ensure that Erf numbers are clearly and prominently displayed for emergency purposes;
  - ✓ Ensure that all windows can be properly locked and are burglar proofed;
  - ✓ Ensure that exterior doors are fitted with adequate locks;
  - ✓ Never leave door keys hanging in the door;
  - ✓ Don't leave spare keys lying around in your house. Place them in a safe place;
  - ✓ Firearm owners must ensure that their firearms are kept safe at all times. Firearms must always be under your direct control or locked away in a firearm safe;
  - ✓ in a firearm safe;
  - ✓ Never leave ladders, axes and spades outside. These are potential housebreaking tools and weapons;
  - ✓ Ensure that an intruder detection system is connected directly to a security company providing a 24 hour service. Ensure that the system is always activated when away from home;
  - ✓ When out walking always make sure that your cellphone is concealed. Never leave cellphones lying on a seat in the car
  - ✓ Be alert at all times to any strangers, perhaps disguised as workmen or vendors, who may be loitering in the neighbourhood. Also be aware of job seekers;
  - ✓ Look out for suspicious vehicles that cruise the area at intervals and who may be keeping houses under observation. People and/or vehicles giving rise to suspicion should be reported to the SAPS, along with the fullest possible personal and vehicle descriptions;
  - ✓ Ensure that front and back doors are not left open or unlocked;
  - ✓ Keep garage doors closed and locked;
  - ✓ Ensure that valuable items are not left on seats in cars parked at unprotected and isolated areas. Rather keep them locked away in the boot;
  - ✓ Never leave car keys in the ignition when away from the car;
  - ✓ Keep a list of the make, model and serial numbers of electrical appliances and other valuable equipment should it be required for investigation purposes.

Important Information

Fires!

When the wind blows (which is nearly every day) the probability of fire increases dramatically. NEVER make a fire when the wind is very strong and please NEVER leave it unattended. Only use designated braai areas and NEVER make a fire on the beach. Flying sparks have been known to set fire to the fynbos with devastating effects. Fires MUST be put out with both sand and water as exposed coals can be re-ignited by the wind.

Dunes

Our shifting dunes are in trouble. Houses have blocked the path of the north-wester, which used to return them to their place of origin. We are currently doing our level best to stabilise the dunes so please keep to the footpaths and do not make new ones—tempting as it is when the beach is just on the other side!

Fynbos

Without a permit you may only feast your eyes on the magnificent biodiversity that surrounds us. Please, do not pick or remove plants and please be careful where you walk to avoid trampling on seedling.

Wildlife

There is a R500 fine for feeding baboons. Close windows on leaving your house, and if your home is in a baboon frequented area, keep an eye peeled for visitors! If a baboon drops in, do not get between the animal and its line of exit. Banging on something loudly, e.g. a spoon on a pan, may encourage an exit. pan, may encourage an exit.

Marine Life

Permits for fishing, crayfishing and for collecting mussels and other sea life may be obtained at the Post Office. Please do your bit to keep our pristine beaches clear of litter and fisherman's debris. Report poaching activities and people overstepping bag limits to Seawatch —082 994 9300.

Pets

Unleashed and unruly dogs cause havoc with the wildlife whether you are walking on the beach, taking a country stroll or fishing. Dog owners, please carry a poo-bag with you and clean up after your dog. Please ensure that your dogs have ID tags and cannot wander off your property, day or night.

Light Pollution

Any lights shining beyond the perimeter of your property is prohibited by law. Please, put on outside lights only when absolutely necessary and do not leave them on at night. Besides destroying the night sky visual, lights also destroy the natural biorhythms of both flora and fauna.

Refuse

New legislation says that bags may not be left on the side of the road, or put out in advance, as this is an open invitation to a baboon invasion as well as dogs and ibis. Place bags in a secure and baboon-proof bin situated inside your property boundary. If you miss collection, bags must be placed in the trailer at the entrance of town.

Belangrike Inligting

Brande!

Wanneer die wind waai (feitlik elke dag) word die waarskynlikheid vir brande heelwat groter. Moet NOOIT tydens sterk wind vuurmaak nie en moet die vuur asseblief NOOIT sonder toesig laat brand nie. Gebruik net afgebakende braaiplekke en moet NOOIT op die strand vuur maak nie. Vonke het die fynbos al aan die brand gestee, met vernietigende gevolge. Blus brande met sowel water as sand, want die wind kan blootgestelde kole weer laat opvlam.

Duine

Ons waaisandduine is in gevaar. Huise sper die noord-weste wind af, wat die duine altyd teruggeskuif het. Ons doen tans ons bes om die duine te stabiliseer. Gebruik dus asseblief net bestaande voetpaadjies en moenie nuwes skep nie, al is die strand net aan die ander kant!

Fynbos

Sonder 'n permit mag jy die pragtige biodiversiteit om ons net met jou oë bewonder. Moet plante asseblief nie pluk of verwyder nie, en kyk mooi waar jy loop, sodat jy nie saailinge plat trap nie.

Wild

Daar is 'n boete van R500 as jy bobbejane voer. Maak vensters toe as jy nie in die huis is nie, en hou dop vir harige besoekers as die omgewing 'n gereelde bobbejaan-kuierplek is. Sorg dat jy nie tussen 'n bobbejaan in die huis en sy ontsnaproete staan nie. As jy hard op iets slaan, byvoorbeeld met 'n lepel op 'n pan, sal die bobbejaan waarskynlik die wyk neem. nie. As jy hard op iets slaan, byvoorbeeld met 'n lepel op 'n pan, sal die bobbejaan waarskynlik die wyk neem.

Seelewe

Kry permitte vir hengel, kreefduik, mosselpluk of die vergaar van enige ander seelewe by die Poskantoor. Help asseblief om ons strande van rommel en hengelafval skoon te hou. Meld stropers en mense wat meer uithaal as wat hulle mag by Seawatch aan (082 994 9300).

Troeteldiere

Losloper- en onbeheerde honde saai verwoesting onder ons wild, ongeag of jy op die strand stap, deur die fynbos wandel of vis vang. Neem 'n landmyn-sak saam. Sluit honde asseblief ook snags toe.

Ligbesoedeling

Geen regstreekse lig mag kragtens die wet buite jou eiendomsgrense skyn nie. Skakel buiteligte asseblief net aan as dit absoluut nodig is, en skakel snags af. Ligte verdof nie net die prag van die naghemel nie, maar beïnvloed ook die natuurlike bioritmes van sowel diere as plante.

Vullis

Volgens wetgewing mag sakke nie langs strate gelaat word nie, want dit lok bobbejane, sowel as honde en Skoorsteenveer-voels. Sakke mag nie vooraf uit gesit word nie. Plaas sakke in 'n veilige bobbejaanbestande houder binne die grense van die eiendom. Gebruik die vulliswa by die ingang van die dorp indien jy versameldag gemis het.

We Need Your Help

Our PB Ratepayers Association is only as strong as its members and its Executive Committee. We regularly need new committee members to replace those who have had to leave. If you are available to serve on our committee for a year or two, please let us know by contacting the Chairman on 083 781 1693 or email chairman@pringlebayratepayers.co.za.

Ons Benodig U Hulp

Die PB Belastingbetalers Vereniging is net so effektief en sterk soos sy lede en die Uitvoerende Komitee. Ons is gereeld op soek na nuwe lede! Indien u bereid is om u kundigheid te deel en op die komitee te dien vir 'n jaar of twee, skakel gerus met die Voorsitter op 083 781 1693 of per epos aan chairman@pringlebayratepayers.co.za

Written Contributions

We welcome contributory articles for the Pringle Post, informing the community on the happenings in and around town. Please forward your news to the Editor. Many thanks in advance!
